ALASKA TRAILS NEWS AND NOTICES

THANK YOU FOR ALL THE PICK. CLICK. GIVE. DONATIONS!

Many thanks for being one of our Pick. Click. Give. donors! We really appreciate your support and are looking forward to putting it to good use to build trails - and trail organizations – across our great state.

The 2017 Volunteer Stats for the Alaska Trail Stewards program was recently posted. (See story, next page.)

If you are in the Anchorage area on November 28, please join us at our next Trail Tales storytelling event: <http://www.alaska-trails.org/trailtales.html>

Thanks again for your support and generosity.

SUPPORTERS MAKE ANNUAL FUNDRAISER A BIG SUCCESS AGAIN!!!

Thanks to all the businesses and individuals who donated to make the Alaska Trails Fall Fundraiser such a success. More than 60 supporters gathered at the 49th State Brewing Company to see friends, hear an update on Alaska Trail's work this last year and to bid on wonderful trips, gear and prizes – all to raise money for Alaska Trails. More than $5,000 was raised and we hope to make it even bigger and better in years to come.

Thanks to all the donors to the

VOLUNTEERS IMPROVE TRAILS ON NATIONAL PUBLIC LANDS DAY

Alaska Trails volunteers and tools were out in force on National Public Lands Day (Sept. 30).

More than 40 volunteers finished a trail on the backside of Flattop Mountain in the Anchorage area. Tools from our tool trailers were used on projects on the Kenai Peninsula and in Fairbanks with big volunteer turnouts.

Thanks to everyone who helped make it such a successful day: Chugach State Park, Alaska Geographic, REI, Interior Trails, Fairbanks North Star Borough Parks and Recreation Department, Stray Dogs (trail consultants) and the many volunteers who represented many trail-user groups. Alaska is a better place because of you!

ALASKA TRAIL STEWARDS MAKES BIG STRIDES IN 2017

The 2017 Volunteer Stats for the Alaska Trail Stewards (ATS) program are on our website here: <http://tinyurl.com/yb8lkev6>.

We are excited about the accomplishments for 2017 and are already prepping for 2018! ATS recruited over 100 volunteers who contributed nearly 800 hours of donated labor to improve trails on Chugach State Park, Bureau of Land Management and Chugach National Forest lands – all by hand. This is more than $25,000 of donated labor. ATS helped land managers reap the benefits of working with volunteers, and maintain strong partnerships with organizations like Alaska Geographic that provide enriching outdoor leadership and service opportunities for youth.

ALASKA TRAILS NEEDS YOUR HELP TO PRESERVE, PROMOTE TRAILS

This newsletter is brought to you free by Alaska Trails. Our mission is to enhance the Alaska trail experience by supporting sustainable, world-renowned trails through advocacy and education. We couldn't do this without support from our members. Please join or renew your membership here: <http://www.alaska-trails.org/join.html>

All year long we strive to:

- Promote the health, social and economic benefits of trails by educating users through forums, conferences, information materials, training and other activities.
- Preserve and improve public trail access by assisting public and private organizations in forming coordinated programs, policies, and standards.
- Promote sustainable trail systems for all users by developing and providing technical assistance for trail projects.

CONFLUENCE FLOWS TO FOLLOWUP FORUM IN ANCHORAGE NOV. 28

A state office of outdoor recreation as well as funding mechanisms, allies and priorities for outdoor recreation infrastructure took center stage in conversations that unfolded during the Second Annual Confluence: Summit on the Outdoors.

More than 40 government officials, non-profits, public land managers and business leaders engaged in a focused exploration about the future of the state's outdoor recreation economy during a solutions-oriented meeting in Valdez Sept. 22.

For those who tried to get to Valdez but couldn't, a half-day forum is being planned in Anchorage, Nov. 28, from 1 - 5 p.m. (<http://www.levitation49.org/confluence-2017/>) The goal of the Anchorage meeting is to reach consensus and hone policy objectives to present to legislators at an outdoor recreation lobby day in Juneau next spring.

2017 RECREATIONAL TRAILS PROGRAM PROJECTS ANNOUNCED

The Recreational Trails Program has awarded matching funds for 22 trail projects in Alaska this year, with many projects underway or already completed. These are reimbursable, grant-funded projects happening throughout the state between 2017 and 2019. The total allocated for these projects is nearly $1.3 million.

The trails program is managed by the Division of Parks and Outdoor Recreation (DPOR) and receives its funding for trails projects from the Federal Highway Trust Fund.

For more information about the Recreational Trails Program, please visit the program's website at <http://dnr.alaska.gov/parks/grants/trails.htm>, or contact Darcy B. Harris, the Alaska State Trails Program Coordinator, (phone: 907/269-8699; email: darcy.harris@alaska.gov).

RESOURCES HELP REDUCE PET/TRAPPING CONFLICTS

Trapping season is here, so trail users who let their dogs run loose should make sure they know some basic information about traps and trap lines. A pamphlet and videos are available.

PAMPHLET: A pocket-sized pamphlet titled "Trap Safety for Pet Owners" describes the types of traps and snares that may be encountered and provides illustrated instructions on how to free pets swiftly and safely. It is produced by the Alaska Department of Fish and Game (ADF&G) and the Alaska Trappers Association (ATA). Copies are available free of charge at department offices, or may be viewed on the website at: <http://tinyurl.com/m6oulhk>. More information, including video footage featuring trap removal instructions, is found on the department's website at www.adfg.alaska.gov (see "Sharing the Trails" under the "Hunting > Trapping" dropdown menu), and on the ATA website (www.alaskatrappers.org).

VIDEO: The ATA also sells a 30-minute video, "Sharing Alaska's Trails," that includes information such as how to know if you are on a trap line, trap line safety, the physics of handling and opening traps and snares, and tips for first-aid for pets accidentally caught in traps. The video doesn't promote trapping, but deals with the practicalities of sharing the trails. A three-minute excerpt of the DVD can be found on YouTube (www.youtube.com/watch?v=Jk242jZwEAQ). To order a copy of the DVD check the ATA store (www.alaskatrappers.org).

Most trapping seasons run from November 1 to the end of February, but the season for a few species lasts longer. Wolf traps could be active well into April.

MOUNTAIN BIKE GROUP SEEKS DONATIONS TO BUILD TRAILS

Message from the Singletrack Advocates Facebook page:

New Hillside Singletrack Trails are APPROVED!!!

It's been a long road, but we successfully made it through the public process and now have 4.5 miles of new singletrack approved for construction in 2018 at Hillside. This summer we worked with the Muni and other stakeholders to create a project that will be fun for trail users and also reduces wildlife impacts.

We plan to build 3 intermediate downhill flow trails (that incorporate rock/root technical sections), 2 advanced downhill trails (think rocks/roots/technical/steeps/drops), and 1 up-track. All trails will be one-way. THANK YOU for your support on this project! Now its time to FUNDRAISE some more money!!! <http://www.singletrackadvocates.org/take-action>

LAND PURCHASE COULD AFFECT POTTER MARSH BOARDWALK AREA

The Conservation Fund is raising funds to purchase a 2.2-acre undeveloped parcel adjacent to the Potter Marsh Boardwalk public facility in the Anchorage Coastal Wildlife Refuge. The longtime Alaskan family that owns this parcel would like to see it added to the wildlife refuge and have generously agreed to a reduced sale.

The parcel contains cottonwood forest habitat as well as wetlands, which complement the habitats within Potter Marsh. This area supports a wide variety of bird and mammal life including waterfowl, bald eagles, sandhill cranes, moose, black and brown bears, 5 species of Pacific salmon, and many others. The Potter boardwalk provides a wonderful opportunity for thousands of Anchorage residents and visitors to view wildlife in the marsh and learn about the area's natural and cultural history. It is Anchorage's most popular wildlife viewing area with approximately 150,000 annual visitors.

If this 2.2-acre parcel is not acquired and protected, it may be cleared, filled and developed which could significantly impact the natural setting and visitor experience at the boardwalk. The Conservation Fund is on track to secure a federal grant for this purchase but needs to generate matching funds of $72,500. Your support is welcome and appreciated.

To donate go to: <https://community.conservationfund.org/pottermarsh>. For more information, contact Joe Meehan, refuge program coordinator, ADF&G (907/267-2281; joe.meehan@alaska.gov).

KENAI PENINSULA LAND, WATER TRAILS FEATURED IN PRESENTATION

At the upcoming Alaska Quiet Rights Coalition's annual meeting Bjorn Olson, adventure filmmaker, photographer and storyteller, will share slides, stories, reflections and a short film about his month-long, circumnavigation of the Kenai Peninsula with the program, Instruments Of Adventure: Around The Kenai Peninsula By Kayak, Packraft And Fat-Bike. The meeting at the Campbell Creek Science Center on November 2 from 7 to 9pm.

In summer of 2016 a team of five wilderness adventurers circumnavigated the Kenai Peninsula—beginning and ending in Homer—by human power. The team employed sea kayaks, fat-bikes and packrafts—the Instruments of Adventure. During the month-long journey, the adventurers encountered abundant wildlife, engaging challenges, and vast areas of untrammelled wilderness. Juxtaposed against the backdrop of Alaskan wilderness, are arterial roads, bustling towns, motorized traffic, industrial development, and areas of vigorous human impact. Bjørn will share slides, stories and reflections, as well as a short film from this atypical Alaskan adventure.

ANCHORAGE FOUNDATION STARTS 'HEALTH ON TRAILS' PROGRAM

The Anchorage Park Foundation has started a new initiative called Health on Trails, which it describes as “an interdisciplinary coalition connecting the outdoor recreation and health sectors. Partners include the Anchorage Park Foundation, National Park Service, Anchorage Department of Health and Human Services, Alaska Department of Health and Social Services, Alaska State Parks, Anchorage Economic Development Corporation, Anchorage School District, local outdoor retailers and businesses, and physicians with many years of experience working in Anchorage hospitals.”

Can't wait to see you for the Winter Trails Challenge, coming soon in December! ~Happy Trails~

PIPELINE HIKER TO GIVE TALK FOR DELTA TRAILS ASSOCIATION

Ned Rozell will share stories about his adventures while hiking along the Trans-Alaska Pipeline on November 3 at 6pm at the historic Sullivan Roadhouse in Delta Junction.

Rozell hiked the length of the pipeline from Valdez to Prudhoe Bay this summer, recreating a feat he accomplished 20 years previously. The presentation, sponsored by the Delta Junction Trails Association, is titled "Ned Rozell and his dog Cora." Cora also spent the summer walking with Ned. Chili, bread, veggies and sweet treats will also be available at the presentation.

Rozell is a science writer for the Geophysical Institute. He has also freelanced for the Fairbanks Daily News-Miner, the Anchorage Daily News, Mushing magazine, the Kenai Peninsula Clarion and others.

NEW TRAIL IN GOLDSTREAM AREA ALLOWS CONTINUED ACCESS

A new connector trail has been built off of September Court to access Cranberry Trail in the hills north of Goldstream Valley.

The Cranberry Trail, a loop trail included in the Fairbanks North Star Borough (FNSB) Recreational Trails Plan, crosses land that sits between Skyflight Avenue (above the Vallata restaurant) and Green Leaf Road (accessed from Goldstream Road via Pandora Road). A jeep road currently gives access to Cranberry Trail and other trails off September Court that are not on the borough trails plan.

For years that jeep road led to a seismic array research facility run jointly by the University of Alaska and the U.S. Air Force, but the facility was decommissioned recently. The jeep road runs across three undeveloped residential lots, which the university has owned in order to allow access to the seismic facility. Now that the facility is being decommissioned the university plans to sell the lots. The jeep road has no easement, so the university plans to close it to public access next year.

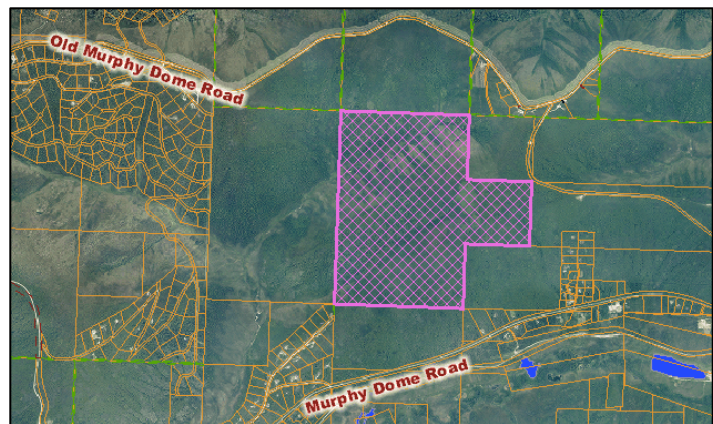

Fortunately, a 20-foot-wide easement extending from the end of September Court exists between two of the university's residential lots. FNSB Trails Coordinator Bryant Wright worked with a crew from the U.S. Air Force to clear a path on that easement, which will give access to Cranberry Trail, the jeep trail and borough land beyond the residential lots.

This change illustrates the importance of having platted easements for trails even when another trail is being used nearby, but has no easement.

BORO LAND IN MURPHY DOME AREA NOMINATED FOR RECREATION

A large piece of property north of Murphy Dome Road that includes trails has been nominated as part of the Fairbanks borough land nomination process by two people for different, though not incompatible uses. People can comment on the proposed uses (see below).

The 1,100-acre piece of borough land sits in an area bordered by Murphy Dome, Old Murphy Dome, and Spinach Creek roads. A trail off the end of Richard Berry Drive, off Murphy Dome Road, accesses the land.

One nominator said on the nomination form that the "top of the hill" is a "popular hiking spot."

“I would like the top of this hill and sufficient surrounding land set aside (exempt from development). It is a popular hiking spot (3 trails lead to the top) and someone has even carried a bench up there.”

The other nominator would like the land to be used for a mix of recreation and residential.

“Proposed use would be a residential/recreational property where I would live and maintain a private sled dog kennel.”

According to borough code the “mayor will at a minimum, biennially in August, present to the assembly a written summary of parcels for sale or retention, and a list of all other nominated land,” according to Sandra Mota, manager of the borough’s Division of Land Management. She expects the nominations affecting this piece of property to be addressed in August 2018.

“Public comment on nominations occurs when the ordinance for retention or for sale comes up for public hearing in the assembly chambers,” Mota wrote in an email. “Any written comment received via email, or at our counter will be held in the file and presented to the assembly as part of their deliberation.”

To comment on the nominations before the ordinance comes up for public hearing you can send an email (land@fnsb.us) or write a letter addressed to: Land Management / Sandra Mota – Manager / PO Box 71267 / Fairbanks AK 99709.
