ALASKA TRAILS NEWS AND NOTICES

TRAIL TALES EVENT TO SUPPORT AK TRAILS, CHUGACH BIKE RIDERS

Alaska Trails is excited to present the 10th installment of the Trail Tales storytelling series. This time we are teaming with the Chugach Mountain Bike Riders as our community partner. In the spirit of Arctic Entries, storytellers will share seven-minute stories about their trail experiences, adventures and life in general. Come enjoy this fun event and support Alaska Trails and the Chugach Mountain Bike Riders.

Trail Tales #10 will be held at 49th State Brewing Company (717 West 3rd, Anchorage) on Tuesday, December 11. Doors open at 6:30pm. Stories start at 7pm. Tickets are $15 and are available at: <http://www.alaska-trails.org/trailtales.html>. Pizza-by-the-slice and drinks will be available for purchase throughout the evening. Get your tickets at the door or online here:

FOUR EASY WAYS TO HELP FUND ALASKA TRAILS

With the help of other organizations, you can help Alaska Trails continue advocating for trails.

FRED MEYER REWARDS: Sign up for the Community Rewards program by linking your Fred Meyer

Rewards Card to Alaska Trails at www.fredmeyer.com/communityrewards. You can search for Alaska Trails or by our nonprofit number – KU871. Then, every time you shop and use your rewards card, you are helping Alaska Trails earn a donation! You still earn your rewards points, fuel points, and rebates, just as you do today.

AMAZONSMILE: If you shop at Amazon, please take the simple extra step of signing up for AmazonSmile.

It's the same Amazon website, but when you shop from AmazonSmile, you can make a donation to Alaska Trails at the same time: <https://smile.amazon.com/ch/73-1677483>

GOODSEARCH: GoodSearch.com is a search engine that donates half its revenue, about a penny per search, to charities designated by the user. You use it just as you would any search engine, and, it's powered by Yahoo!. Just go to www.goodsearch.com and be sure to enter Alaska Trails as the charity you want to support.

BAGOY'S: Anchorage-based Bagoy's Florist and Home helps through its Helping Hands web fundraising program (<http://tinyurl.com/oavza6p>). When you order online from Bagoy's (www.bagoys.com) there is a check box at the bottom of the payment page that says "This is a Helping Hands order." When you check that box, the list of enrolled organizations are shown and you can choose Alaska Trails from the list.

Season Review: A Lot Done, A Lot Ahead

Happy Winter!!! Hoping for more snow soon, but in the meantime, it's fun to look back on a great summer – and fall. Our last Alaska Trail Stewards volunteer event was on October 20, right after we had another great Fall Fundraiser. We will look back fondly on 2018 and are eagerly anticipating great things in 2019.

New Board and New Energy

Thanks to outgoing board members Andy Schroeder and Tim George for all their great work on the board. We are excited to welcome three new board members:

- Gemma Amorelli began working in trails with a position in Denali State Park on their Trail Crew, and helped to build the Kesugi Ridge Trail. She currently works with the US Forest Service working on the Iditarod National Historic Trail.
- Lisa Oakley has been an Anchorage resident for nearly 40 years. Her career path took the winding way through small business operations to nonprofit organizations. She semi-retired in 2016 and started a gardening service.
- Kate Thomas resides in Wrangell and has served as the Parks and Recreation Director for the Borough since 2015. Kate is passionate about making small Alaska communities a better place to live, love and work.

Please visit our Board and Staff webpage (www.alaska-trails.org/ > About) to see profiles of all of our board members!

Strategic Planning Grant

The day after our Fall Fundraiser in October, the Alaska Trails board was up bright and early (8am!) for a board retreat that included a facilitated Strategic Planning session. The board is excited to update the strategic plan and to better incorporate all the great work that Alaska Trails has been engaging in in the past year. The board's goal is to complete the Strategic Plan by the end of the year or shortly thereafter. New and current board members are diving into the details and have been organizing themselves to tackle tasks that will make the organization run even better.

The Strategic Plan was made possible by a grant from the Strengthening Organizations program of The Alaska Community Foundation, with support from the Rasmuson Foundation.

Accessible Trail at GPRA

Thanks to the support of the Mat-Su Trails and Parks Foundation, Alaska Trails contracted Mark Gronewald of Trailwerx to develop a prescriptive layout of a .5 mile, 48" wide trail in the Government Peak Recreation Area near Hatcher Pass. The trail will meet the guidelines of the Americans with Disabilities Act and the Architecture Barriers Act. The goal is to increase access for people in wheelchairs, mobility challenged, senior citizens, folks in poor health, moms and dads with small children and others who need a more moderate trail experience. Alaska Trails will work the other partners to pursue funding to build the trail in 2019.

Alaska Trail Stewards

The Stewards program just finished its third full season and we are delighted with the great results. We greatly surpassed the 2017 numbers in 2018 with a total of 291 volunteers contributing over 1900 hours of labor at 23 events. That equates to $52,644!

Trail Tales

Our storytelling events, modeled after Arctic Entries, continue to be a hit. I am surprised and delighted by how much people enjoy the tales and how willing the great storytellers have been willing to share. We are also pleased to partner with great groups like Girls on the Run and the Chugach Mountain Bike Riders. Working with those community partners has diversified the audience and given us exposure to new people. We are grateful for their help and look forward to working with a whole new set of partners in 2019. (See page 1 for information on the upcoming event.)

As I look forward to the new year and new challenges, I know that great things are on the horizon. We appreciate your support – Happy Holidays!

See you on the trails,

P.S. In case you weren't able to make it to the Mountain Bike Meet-Up earlier, we posted the great presentations from that night at our website: www.alaska-trails.org/mountain-bike-meet-up.html

STATEWIDE NEWS AND NOTICES

SUPPORT PARKS AS PART OF YOUR CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

The holiday shopping season is here. You can use it to encourage people to get outside AND support some of our greatest recreational assets. Buy a pass for yourself or someone else.

- Alaska State Parks annual pass: Support state parks during a time of tight state budgets. Permits are $50 and, of course, your parking is then paid for when you park at a state parks trailhead that requires a fee. Passes are good for the calendar year. Annual boat launch passes are also available for $100: <https://dnr.alaska.gov/parks/passes>
- National Park Service annual passes: The park service offers general passes for $80. It also has a variety of other discounted or free passes for seniors, fourth-graders, people with disabilities, some volunteers, and members of the military: <https://www.nps.gov/planyourvisit/passes.htm>

STUDENT CONSERVATION ASSOCIATION SEEKS TEAM MEMBERS

The Student Conservation Association (SCA) is seeking applicants for its 2019 AK Corps Teams, which work with multiple state and federal partners throughout Alaska. Work projects will be a mix of trail construction and maintenance, invasive species removal and fuels reduction for wildfire management. Project schedules will vary throughout the summer depending on partners needs. Members can expect to use basic hand tools, power tools, and chainsaws. Teams consist of 5 members and 31 leaders. Season begins on May 13 with corps member training. To see the full position and application information, go to <https://www.thesca.org/serve/position/2019-ak-corps-teams/po-00726989>

GROUPS THAT JOIN HIKING SOCIETY CAN APPLY FOR MICRO-GRANTS

Do you have a trail maintenance backlog? Do you need help funding small trail projects? If so, Join American Hiking Society's Alliance Organization today (<http://tinyurl.com/ybn8p6s2>). Once you join as a new member or renew your Alliance membership, you will qualify to apply for a micro-grant up to $3,000 from the National Trail Fund. The application process opens in January. More information can be found about the program here: <https://americanhiking.org/national-trails-fund/>

RESOURCES HELP REDUCE PET/TRAPPING CONFLICTS

Trapping season is here, so trail users who let their dogs run loose should make sure they know some basic information about traps and trap lines. A pamphlet and videos are available.

PAMPHLET: A pocket-sized pamphlet titled "Trap Safety for Pet Owners" describes the types of traps and snares that may be encountered and provides illustrated instructions on how to free pets swiftly and safely. It is produced by the Alaska Department of Fish and Game (ADF&G) and the Alaska Trappers Association (ATA). Copies are available free of charge at department offices, or may be viewed on the website at: <http://tinyurl.com/m6oulhk>. More information, including video footage featuring trap removal instructions, is found on the department's website at www.adfg.alaska.gov (see "Sharing the Trails" under the "Hunting > Trapping" dropdown menu).

VIDEO: The ATA also sells a 30-minute video, "Sharing Alaska's Trails," that includes information such as how to know if you are on a trap line, trap line safety, the physics of handling and opening traps and snares, and tips for first-aid for pets accidentally caught in traps. The video doesn't promote trapping, but deals with the practicalities of sharing the trails. A three-minute excerpt of the DVD can be found on YouTube (www.youtube.com/watch?v=Jk242jZwEAQ). To order a copy of the DVD check the ATA store (www.alaskatrappers.org).

Most trapping seasons run from November 1 to the end of February, but the season for a few species lasts longer. Wolf traps could be active well into April.

FORAKER GROUP OFFERS CLASSES FOR NON-PROFITS STATEWIDE

The Foraker Group, which is dedicated to strengthening Alaska's non-profits, offers classes about the proper workings of non-profit groups, which include many trail and trail user groups. If you are a member or employee of a non-profit group consider taking one of the classes, which are offered in several communities and statewide by teleconference. For more information visit the Foraker Group website (www.forakergroup.org/) or call 907/743-1200 or (toll free) 877/834-5003.

INTERIORWIDE NEWS AND NOTICES

SUPPORT SOUGHT FOR BETTER ACCESS TO PARK WITH TRAILS

The Interior Alaska Land Trust is trying to get people to comment in support of a pedestrian tunnel under Chena Pump Road to allow better access to the Chinook Conservation Park (formerly known as the Chena Greenbelt), a public conservation park the group is working on. Below is a post that was on the group's Facebook page:

The FMATS long-range plan is currently open for public review and we need your help!

We have plans underway to develop a public conservation park on the strip of land alongside Chena Pump Road between Chena Ridge and Old Chena Ridge Roads. We envision trails, bridges, and access to the newly-restored historic Cripple Creek channel. Check out the summer and winter trail maps for both pedestrian and motorized users at <https://interioraklandtrust.org/>

We expect this park to be popular, however we're currently facing the issue of safe access. There is no good way for pedestrians to cross Chena Pump road, including students attending Woodriver Elementary school. After a conversation with the executive director of the Fairbanks Metropolitan Area Transportation System (FMATS), the ball is beginning to roll on a pedestrian tunnel underneath Chena Pump Road. What this project needs now is public support. FMATS link for public comment: <http://maps.kittelson.com/FMATS2045>

You can support this project by clicking the link above, zooming in to Chena Pump Road, commenting on the project, and liking the comments of others. To comment, click on the road (red). A blue box will pop up with a link for "Add a comment."

TRAIL REROUTE AROUND FORT KNOX GOLD MINE COMPLETED

A reroute of trails around the Fort Knox gold mine has been finished, according to Anna Atchison, external affairs manager for the mine.

The reroute was done to accommodate expansion of the mine. The trails comprise a route that connects trails in the Cleary Summit area and trails north of Gilmore Trail road. The route is used by a variety of motorized and non-motorized trail users, including by the Gold Discovery Run, held in summer as a part of the Golden Days celebration.

Chuck Johnson, of Cleary Summit, checked the reroute out recently. He said the powerline trail, which had previously been used to by trail users in the area, is being gated.

"The trail is great, just needs snow now," Johnson wrote in a November 25 email. "Not enough up here on Cleary Summit for riding or skiing."

The trail was officially finished November 21, when all the paperwork with the state was signed off, Atchison said. The design stayed the same from what was submitted after the project's public comment period, Atchison said. The trail includes grade reversals to control water erosion, a feature requested by trail users who commented on the project.

Now that the trail is finished, it is the responsibility of the state of Alaska. However, Atchison said the mine plans to monitor it for a couple of years and would be willing to correct any problems regarding design and construction.

“We will inspect the trail after break up to make sure the storm water is diverting correctly,” she said.

Also, Atchison said the mine plans to make a monetary donation to a nonprofit group that can maintain the trail in the future. That group has not yet been selected.

The Fairbanks Daily News-Miner reported on the project in a July story about trail projects around the Interior: <http://tinyurl.com/ycgd2zmx>

CABIN REMOVED, BRIDGE BUILT ALONG EL DORADO CREEK TRAIL

An iconic, crumbling cabin along the El Dorado Creek Trail was recently removed.

The cabin, which was about three miles along the trail north of Goldstream Road, was reportedly removed by a miner working in the area. It had sat on land owned by the federal Bureau of Land Management. The cabin was not usable as a safe shelter.

“We have been looking in to this,” John Haddix of BLM wrote in a recent email. “As I understand the issue at this time a local miner decided to remove the cabin. He has told us that his father built the cabin and that he has deeds to the cabin that he can provide. We are waiting on him to provide the deeds. The property is in the process of being conveyed to the state, and the miner stated that he was concerned that it would not be conveyed with the cabin on it.”

Trail users also report that the miner has graded and brushed out the trail from the cabin site northeast to the Alaska Pipeline corridor. The trail/mining road had become eroded in the past several years, and overhanging brush had started to partially block portions of the trail.

Also, trail users report that a bridge has been built across a creek along the trail within a mile north of Goldstream Road. No reports yet on who built and installed the bridge. Time will tell whether it can withstand the large overflow ice that sometimes builds up there.

NATIONWIDE NEWS AND NOTICES

SENATORS INTRODUCE REC TRAILS PROGRAM FULL FUNDING ACT

The Recreational Trails Program (RTP) has aided trail construction and maintenance projects and programs nationwide since 1991. Created through landmark surface transportation legislation, RTP reflected Congressional belief that federal gas taxes paid on motor fuel used in motorized non-highway recreational activities should be used to benefit those paying the tax as well as other users of recreational trails.

Tens of millions of hikers and bikers, equestrians and ATVers, snowmobilers and skiers, canoeists and others now enjoy better outdoor experiences because of this action. And RTP's accomplishments unite the efforts in every state of federal agencies, state and local governments, volunteers and recreation businesses.

Now, the bipartisan efforts of four United States senators promise to dramatically increase the benefits of RTP's proven formula. U.S. Senators Amy Klobuchar (D-MN), Jim Risch (R-ID), Jeanne Shaheen (D-NH) and Richard Burr (R-NC) recently introduced S. 3604—the RTP Full Funding Act of 2018—to require a study to estimate the total amount of taxes collected on non-highway recreational fuel, improve reporting on expenditures from the RTP, and streamline RTP funding distribution to the states by reducing unnecessary paperwork.

FIGHT FOR ONE OF LARGEST U.S. TRAIL FUNDS CONTINUES

The Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) has expired, so, what is next?

Our fight is definitely not over! In the coming weeks, the LWCF Coalition will be working with our partners across the country and champions on Capitol Hill to secure the future of LWCF on behalf of the places we love and all of the recreation and economic benefits it brings to the American people. Don't forget, we have a $887 billion recreation economy that relies on access to our outdoors!

With lots of conversations about the future of the program, here is a quick update on the importance of authorization with full dedicated funding, where LWCF currently stands, and how you can get involved.
